

This is just a reminder about an exciting competition - Ireland – Dig It! is a brand new RTÉ TV series where teams of three students, aged between 9 and 13, have the chance to play an exciting and energetic archaeology adventure on TV!

The programme is being filmed in June and those chosen to take part will compete in a series of physical and mental archaeology challenges. You'll need to use all your knowledge of local and national history and archaeological discoveries to win a place in our grand final, with the chance to win a unique school trip for your entire class!

To enter, you'll need to fill out the Ireland - Dig It! application form complete with a secret code. To find the form and code, you and your team will need to don your archaeologists' hats and unearth some missing objects from our Bronze Age grave! See website www.rte.ie/irelanddigit.

Make sure to get your applications in as soon as possible – as no applications will be accepted after 30th April 2010.

The Local History & Archives section at Kerry Library can help you with any questions you might have when preparing for the competition. Ask Librarian, Marita or the Archivist, Michael for any assistance

So come along and Dig for information at Kerry Library!
